Privacy

HMC respects the privacy of the people who visit and submit information to our Web site and we adhere to the following privacy policy. Any personal information you provide to us will be kept in strict confidence. If you have any questions about this policy, please contact us.

Information collection and use

For each visitor to our Web site, our Web server may recognize and monitor the visitor's domain name and Web browser used to access the site, but not the visitor's e-mail address. We collect aggregate information on what pages our site visitors access or visit. We use your Internet address (IP address) to monitor usage of the site, but we do not attach any personal data to that IP address. We are interested in tracking the general behavior of visitors to our site, not the behavior profile of specific users. However we may monitor some aspects of specific user behavior for those who voluntarily request to receive more information from us.

We may make internal use of this tracking information (this non-identifying information about general user behavior and activity) for internal review to provide site visitors with more relevant content and information, to notify site visitors about updates to our Web site, and to help inform us of technical upgrades that could render our Web site more functional for our visitors. With respect to cookies: We do not set any cookies.

We collect and retain information about you only when you give us permission to do so. Visitors to the HMC Web site remain anonymous. We do not collect personally identifying information about site visitors unless you choose to provide such information to us. We collect e-mail addresses and other contact information only from those site visitors who voluntarily opt in to receive more information from or about us and/or our member institutions. We collect this personal contact information from the following sources: Information submitted voluntarily by you via event registration, surveys, Web requests or other online forms, and information you communicate with us via e-mail.

We do not collect personal information about you on our Web site unless you choose to provide that information to us. Even then, your personal contact information is used solely for the purpose of supplying you with information from or about HMC and/or its member institutions. We also use the contact information you voluntarily provide to respond to your questions and requests.

Disclosure of your information to others

We make the e-mail addresses and other contact information of our Web site visitors available to HMC only upon request from you. If you do not want us to share your e-mail address with our member institutions, simply do not volunteer your personal contact information to us.

We do not share, trade, rent or sell your personal information with any company, organization or unrelated third parties outside of the HMC to use for their own purposes. We may disclose the aforementioned personal contact information to third-party companies who work for us, or to HMC staff that perform marketing, technical or other services on our behalf.

With respect to ad servers: We do not partner with or have special relationships with any ad server companies.

Communications from us

If you supply us with your postal address, e-mail address, or other personal contact information, you may receive periodic mailings and/or e-mailings from us concerning HMC announcements, upcoming events or other industry news and information.

You may choose to discontinue e-mail communication from us at any time. Please let us know by sending us e-mail. (See our contact information.) Please provide us with your exact name and address. We will be sure your name is removed from our contact list.

At the time of sending any e-mail communication to you, we will always give you the opportunity to unsubscribe from our e-mailing list.

Site visitors who supply us with their telephone numbers online will only receive telephone contact regarding specific requests which they have placed online, and only from HMC. If at any time you wish to discontinue receiving information from HMC, you may have your name put on our do-not-share list by sending us an e-mail (see our contact information).
